Personal information you disclose to us

We do not collect any personal information from you.

!!! danger “Sensitive Personal Information”

We do not collect any sensitive personal information from you.

Information automatically collected

!!! tip “In Short”

Some information - such as IP address and/or browser and device characteristics - is collected automatically when you use our Services.

We automatically collect certain information when you visit, use, or navigate our Services. This information does not reveal your specific identity (like your name or contact information) but may include device and usage information, such as your IP address, browser and device characteristics, operating system, language preferences, referring URLs, device name, country, location, information about how and when you use our Services, and other technical information. This information is primarily needed to maintain the security and operation of our Services, and for our internal analytics and reporting purposes.

Like many businesses, we also collect information through cookies and similar technologies.

The information we collect includes:

- Identifiers. Identifier is a device and browser-specific unique random string that we generate when you use our Service. This identifier is stored in a cookie on your device, allowing us to identify you across multiple sessions and when you return to our Service. You can delete this cookie at any time by clearing your browser’s cache.
- Log and Usage Data. Log and usage data is service-related, diagnostic, usage, and performance information our servers automatically collect when you access or use our Services and which we record in log files. Depending on how you interact with us, this log data may include your IP address, device information, browser type, and settings, and information about your activity in the Services (such as the date/time stamps associated with your usage, pages and files viewed, searches and other actions you take such as which features you use), device event information (such as system activity, error reports (sometimes called ‘crash dumps’) and hardware settings).
- Device Data. We collect device data such as information about your computer, phone, tablet, or other devices you use to access the Services. Depending on the device used, this device data may include information such as your IP address (or proxy server), device and application identification numbers, location, browser type, hardware model, Internet Service Provider and/or mobile carrier, operating system, and system configuration information.
- Location Data. We collect location data such as information about your device’s location, which can be either precise or imprecise. How much information we collect depends on the type and settings of the device you use to access the Services. For example, we may use GPS and other technologies to collect geolocation data that tells us your current location (based on your IP address). You can opt out of allowing us to collect this information either by refusing access to the information or by disabling your location settings on your device.

Categories of Personal Information We Collect

We have collected the following categories of personal information in the past twelve (12) months:

L. Sensitive personal Information		NO

We may also collect other personal information outside of these categories through instances where you interact with us in person, online, or by phone or mail in the context of:

- Receiving help through our customer support channels;
- Participation in customer surveys or contests; and
- Facilitation in the delivery of our Services and to respond to your inquiries.

We will use and retain the collected personal information as needed to provide you with our Services and as necessary to comply with our legal obligations, resolve disputes, and enforce our agreement for the following period:

- Category A: Indefinitely
- Category F: Indefinitely
- Category G: Indefinitely
- Category K: Indefinitely

2. How do we process your information?

!!! tip “In Short”

We process your information to provide, improve, and administer our Services, communicate with you, and for other purposes, with your consent. We may also process your information for other purposes with your consent.

We process your personal information for a variety of reasons, depending on how you interact with our Services, including:

- To protect our Services. We may process your information as part of our efforts to keep our Services safe and secure, including fraud monitoring and prevention.
- To identify user trends. We may process information about how you use our Services to better understand how they are being used so we can improve them.
- To save or protect an individual’s vital interest. We may process your information when necessary to save or protect an individual’s vital interest, such as to prevent harm.

3. What legal basis do we have for processing your information?

!!! tip “In Short”

We only process your personal information when we believe it is necessary and we have a valid legal basis.

The General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) and UK GDPR require us to explain the valid legal bases we rely on in order to process your personal information. As such, we may rely on the following legal bases to process your personal information:

- Consent. We may process your personal information if you have given us specific consent to use your personal information for a specific purpose. You have the right to withdraw your consent at any time. Learn more about withdrawing your consents.
- Legitimate Interests. We may process your information when we believe it is reasonably necessary to achieve our legitimate business interests and those interests do not outweigh your interests and fundamental rights and freedoms. For example, we may process your personal information for some of the purposes described in order to:

- Analyse how our Services are used so we can improve them to engage and retain users
- Diagnose problems and/or prevent fraudulent activities
- Legal Obligations. We may process your information where we believe it is necessary for compliance with our legal obligations, such as to cooperate with a law enforcement body or regulatory agency, exercise or defend our legal rights, or disclose your information as evidence in litigation in which we are involved.
- Vital Interests. We may process your information where we believe it is necessary to protect your vital interests or the vital interests of a third party, such as situations involving potential threats to the safety of any person.

5. Do we use cookies and other tracking technologies?

!!! tip “In Short”

We may use cookies and other tracking technologies to collect and store your information.

We also permit third parties and service providers to use online tracking technologies on our Services for analytics and advertising, including to help manage and display advertisements, to tailor advertisements to your interests, or to send abandoned shopping cart reminders (depending on your communication preferences). The third parties and service providers use their technology to provide advertising about products and services tailored to your interests which may appear either on our Services or on other websites.

To the extent these online tracking technologies are deemed to be a ‘sale’/‘sharing’ (which includes targeted advertising, as defined under the applicable laws) under applicable US state laws, you can opt out of these online tracking technologies by clicking the button on the top of this page or the button below:

Google Analytics

We may share your information with Google Analytics to track and analyse the use of the Services. The Google Analytics Advertising Features that we may use include: Remarketing with Google Analytics, Google Display Network Impressions Reporting and Google Analytics Demographics and Interests Reporting. To opt out of being tracked by Google Analytics across the Services, visit <https://tools.google.com/dlpage/gaoptout>. You can opt out of Google Analytics Advertising Features through Ads Settings and Ad Settings for mobile apps. Other opt out means include <http://optout.networkadvertising.org/> and <http://www.networkadvertising.org/mobile-choice>. For more information on the privacy practices of Google, please visit the Google Privacy & Terms.

6. How long do we keep your information?

!!! tip “In Short”

We keep your information for as long as necessary to fulfil the purposes outlined in this privacy notice.

We will only keep your personal information for as long as it is necessary for the purposes set out in this privacy notice, unless a longer retention period is required or permitted by law (such as tax, accounting, or other legal requirements).

When we have no ongoing legitimate business need to process your personal information, we will either delete or anonymise it, or, if this is not possible (for example, because your personal information has been stored in backup archives), then we will securely store your personal information and isolate it from any further processing until deletion is possible.

7. How do we keep your information safe?

!!! tip “In Short”

We aim to protect your personal information through a system of organisational and technical measures.

We have implemented appropriate technical and organisational security measures designed to protect the security of any personal information we process. However, despite our safeguards and efforts to secure your information, no electronic transmission over the internet or information storage technology can be guaranteed to be 100% secure, so we cannot promise or guarantee that hackers, cybercriminals, or other unauthorised third parties will not be able to defeat our security and improperly collect, access, steal, or modify your information. Although we will do our best to protect your personal information, the transmission of personal information to and from our Services is at your own risk. You should only access the Services within a secure environment.

8. What are your privacy rights?

!!! tip “In Short”

We strive to protect your privacy rights and choices to the best possible extent under the law.

You have rights under certain data protection laws. However, these rights are not absolute, and in certain cases, we may decline your request as permitted by law. These rights include:

- Right to know whether or not we are processing your personal data
- Right to access your personal data
- Right to correct inaccuracies in your personal data
- Right to request the deletion of your personal data
- Right to obtain a copy of the personal data you previously shared with us
- Right to non-discrimination against you for exercising your rights
- Right to opt-out
 - of the processing of your personal data if it is used for targeted advertising (or sharing as defined under applicable laws), the sale of personal data, or profiling in furtherance of decisions that produce legal or similarly significant effects (‘profiling’) concerning you
 - of the collection of sensitive data and personal data collected through the operation of a voice or facial recognition feature
- Right to obtain
 - a list of the categories of third parties to which we have disclosed personal data
 - a list of specific third parties to which we have disclosed personal data
- Right to limit use and disclosure of sensitive personal data

How to exercise your rights

It is very unlikely that you will be able to exercise the above rights as we do not collect any identifiable personal data from you.

We are unable to reply to and act on data subject access request as we do not save any identifiable information about you, and we will not be able to verify your identity.

If you believe we are unlawfully processing your personal information, you can contact the relevant data protection regulator, state attorney general, or other competent authority in your jurisdiction.

If you are a resident in the European Economic Area or the United Kingdom, you can contact your Member State's data protection supervisory authority or UK Information Commissioner's Office.

If you are a resident in Australia or New Zealand, you can contact Office of the Australian Information Commissioner or Office of New Zealand Privacy Commissioner.

If you are a resident in Canada, you can contact the Office of the Privacy Commissioner of Canada.

If you are a resident in the state of California of the United States, you can contact California Privacy Protection Agency.

If you are a resident in Switzerland, you can contact Federal Data Protection and Information Commissioner.

If you are a resident in South Africa, you can contact the Information Regulator.

Withdraw your consent If we are relying on your consent to process your personal information, which may be express and/or implied consent depending on the applicable law, you have the right to withdraw your consent at any time. You can withdraw your consent at any time by clicking the button on the top of this page or the button below:

Privacy Control

However, please note that this will not affect the lawfulness of the processing before its withdrawal nor, when applicable law allows, will it affect the processing of your personal information conducted in reliance on lawful processing grounds other than consent.

Cookies and similar technologies Most web browsers are set to accept cookies by default. If you prefer, you can usually choose to set your browser to remove or reject browser cookies. Please note that if you choose to remove or reject cookies, this will NOT affect the availability and functionality of our Services.

9. Controls for Do-Not-Track features

Most web browsers and some mobile operating systems and mobile applications include a Do-Not-Track ('DNT') feature or setting you can activate to signal your privacy preference not to have data about your online browsing activities monitored and collected. At this stage, no uniform technology standard for recognising and implementing DNT signals has been finalised. Although we cannot promise to honour every DNT signal, we strive to honour all such requests where technically feasible.

California law requires us to let you know how we respond to web browser DNT signals. Because we cannot guarantee to recognise and honour all DNT signals, we do not respond to them at this time.

10. Do residents in certain jurisdiction have specific privacy rights?

NO.

All men and women are created equal.

We provide the same privacy rights to all individuals, regardless of their location.

Be assured that we will treat you with the same respect and dignity as we would want to be treated.

11. How can you review, update, or delete the data we collect from you?

It is very unlikely that you will be able to review, update, or delete the data we collect from you as we do not collect any identifiable personal data from you, and we will not be able to identify which data belongs to you.

12. Do we make updates to this notice?

!!! tip “In Short”

Yes, we will update this notice as necessary to stay compliant with relevant laws.

We may update this privacy notice from time to time. The updated version will be indicated by an updated ‘Last Revised Date’ at the top of this privacy notice. If we make any material changes, we will notify you by posting the new privacy notice on this page. We are unable to notify you directly as we do not collect any contact information from you. We encourage you to review this privacy notice frequently to stay informed of how we are protecting your information.
